

LEGACY HEALTH PARTNERS
CLINICALLY INTEGRATED NETWORK

Election to Participate

- I. Legacy Health seeks to develop a Clinically Integrated Network ("CIN"), which is a partnership between independent private practice physicians, Legacy Health and Legacy Medical Group focused on improving population health through a value-driven, clinically integrated network.*
- II. This election sets forth the principles which will guide Legacy Health and the undersigned Physician in developing the Legacy Health Partners Clinically Integrated Network ("CIN"). Physician and CIN will enter into a mutually acceptable participation agreement upon full formation of the CIN.*

1. Physician Membership.
  - 1.1 Membership Criteria. Physician agrees to satisfy membership qualification criteria established by CIN governance.
  - 1.2 Credentialing. Provider is required to be a member of the medical staff of a Legacy Health hospital, and may also be credentialed by the CIN in order to participate in payor contracts.
  - 1.3 Technology. Physician and CIN will conform to information technology standards that are developed and adopted by CIN governance in order to facilitate clinical connectivity.
  - 1.4 Termination. Physician may be terminated from the CIN if Physician does not meet Board-approved performance standards or membership criteria, actively participate in the network or does not timely provide quality and performance data.
2. Performance Programs. Physician and CIN will actively participate in performance programs developed by CIN governance, including but not limited to the following: (i) clinical, data and financial integration programs; (ii) studies of quality, performance, outcomes, efficiencies, continuity of care, and cost of care; and (iii) development and adoption of clinical protocols and other evidence-based medicine initiatives.
3. Exclusivity. The CIN will not restrict Physician from joining other networks, but federal law states that primary care physicians may be members of only one Medicare Accountable Care Organization (ACO). Physician will notify the CIN if he/she becomes employed by or contracted with a healthcare provider or network that restricts, limits, or prohibits participation in outside networks.
4. Payor Contracts. Upon completion of clinical and data integration work, the CIN may decide to participate in payor contracts, as approved by CIN governance, which are focused on quality, performance, and outcomes. Such payor contracts are not intended to displace payor contracts in which Physician is currently engaged. All monetary distributions to Physician under the payor contracts will be at fair market value and will be commercially reasonable and approved by CIN governance.
